110. "Madonna of the Streets" framed painting by artist Jean Ryan

Donated By: Jean Ryan, Madonna Arts & Carlos R. de Quesada

Take home this exquisite religious art painting entitled "Mother of Streets" by artist Jean Ryan of Madonna Arts. Keep in mind that these pieces were created by the artist for you to experience Mary with your eyes and your heart, with three-dimensional halos and rosary bead borders. Layers of varnish are added for protection and also enhance the old-world patina. Surrounding the wood panel is a beautiful, ornate gold wood frame made especially for that piece. The back of the beveled wood panel is stained blue (the color most often associated with the Virgin Mary) and includes the particular story of that Madonna on parchment. Painting is 14" x 17"

119. Next Parish America - Painting by Edmund Sullivan

This is the last scene many Irish folks have seen leaving Ireland on their way to a new home in America. It is the last rocky-green memory thousands have of this beautiful isle. This is Edmund Sullivan's interpretation of that unforgettable view. Look at the spotlights of sun cutting through the clouds as if to show the way across the sea. How craggy and worn the cliffs are, rising from the water. Here, most powerfully, Sullivan's genius for seeing Ireland at its best comes through. Painting is artist signed lithography, custom framed & 20'x24'
